TARWATER SUFFERS FROM A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

In Serious Condition, Can't Face Trial Today, Says County Physician.

Gallatin, Mo., May 3.—Hugh Y. Tarwater, held in the Daviess county jail in connection with the shooting on Dec. 23, 1919, of Wes L. Robertson, editor of the Gallatin Democrat, is in a serious condition as the result of a nervous breakdown, and will be unable to appear in the circuit court today when his trial on a charge of first degree murder is called, according to P. L. Gardner, county physician. Doctor Gardner said that under the most favorable conditions Tarwater would not be able to face trial before the middle of the term.

The Tarwater trial is second on the court docket, being preceded by that of Fred Lear, charged with the murder in August of last year of Claud Devers of Pattonsburg, Mo. The Lear case was set over from the February term, after a jury had failed to convict Lear.

The fact that Tarwater is ill was not generally known until yesterday.

Although Tarwater's attorneys have refrained from making any formal statement, it is generally conceded that they will enter a plea of insanity in their client's defense. This belief is borne out by the fact that the day after the shooting one of his attorneys gave out an interview in which he dwelt at length on Tarwater's previous alleged mental lapses. Records at State Hospital No. 2 in St. Joseph, show that Tarwater was twice an inmate of that institution. The prosecution is said to be planning to introduce evidence in an effort to prove that he chose confinement in the hospital for the insane both times in preference to prison sentences for alleged felonies.

ANTI-AMERICAN OUTBREAK IN CANAL ZONE YESTERDAY

Demonstrations Marr Visit of General Pershin at Panama—Sentiment Against Occupation of Taboga.

Panama, May 3. — Anti-American demonstrations started on the streets of Panama last niht marred the reception given General Pershing at the Union Club. Two thousand Panamas paraded the streets denouncing the Americans. The underlying cause of the outbreak was the growing sentiment against American occupation of the tiny island of Taboga, just off the Pacific entrance of Panama Canal for the purpose of fortification. So great was he rush and confusion about the club entrance that Pershing's escort of army officers was prevented from entering. Guests waited two hours and being unable to gain entrance returned to the army post. Native police dispersed the crowd at the first signs of disorder. President Leforvre today expressed great regret at the incident.

Their names are the only ones appearing on the ballots and under the Maryland law, no other names can be written in by voters. Both sides have campaigned the state and both sides claim victory. There has been no heated fight in Maryland however, that featured similar campaigns in other states. These districts would have the road known as the bottom road.

A number of men interested in a special road district from the Iowa line through Hopkins and Pickering to Maryville and for the road as surveyed by the state highway department were before the county court this afternoon. This petition has been filed but by an oversight in not giving the required notice publication the court cannot act on this matter until the regular term in August.

F. J. WADE INDORSES MAYER FOR GOVERNOR

St Louis Banker Says St. Joseph Man Is Ideal Candidate.

Festus J. Wade of St. Louis, president of the Mercantile Trust Company, in a letter to Col. J. H. McCord of St. Joseph, commended the candidacy of Charles H. Mayer for the Democratic nomination for governor. Wade said:

"Dear General—I have read with much interest your letter to the Democratic voters of Missouri, presenting the candidacy of Judge Charles H. Mayer of St. Joseph for governor, subject to the primary in August.

"I am very much interested in the candidacy of Judge Mayer for governor. His integrity and splendid ability, the result of wide experience in the public offices to which he has heretofore been elected and in which he has served the people, and his general knowledge of state affairs, and the needs of our state government, make him an ideal candidate, and if nominated and elected, as I sincerely hope he may be, would enable him to give to the people of Missouri a clean, progressive administration of its affairs, such as would reflect credit upon him and upon the people of this great state.

"Yours very truly,

"FESTUS J. WADE."

WORLD FINANCIAL CONGRESSCONVENES

WILL TAKE STOCK OF EUROPE'S BUSINESS AFFAIRS.

40 STATES AT MEETING

Called by League of Nations to Invoice Financial Wreckage of Five Years of War.

Brussels, May 3.—The greatest financial conference in the history of the world convenes here this week.

Called by the League of Nations, governmental and financial representatives of forty states are to meet and take stock of the financial wreckage of five years of war.

The conference will be one which according to the advance notices, will pass up as futile all attempts at readjustment of exchanges and financial salvation of the world by manipulation, or by governmental control of imports. Years of artificial bolstering of the rates of money exchanges between warring and peaceful countries has convinced the financial experts of the world that this procedure is useless.

It is understood that each nation will be expected to place before the conference:

Its balance sheet.
Its forthcoming budget.
Its full debt and credit position.
Its peculiar financial difficulties.

Every nation will be called upon to state in definite terms the exact state of its bankruptcy, and there are many nations on this side of the Atlantic who are, in the ordinary commercial sense, bankrupt.

An attempt may be made to enlist the aid of neutrals who have done well out of the war for nations whose war burdens have been heavier than it was possible for them to underwrite. An international loan for Armenia may be proposed.

The agenda for the meeting lists trade credits, taxation values, standardization of budgets and foreign exchanges for discussion.

TIME TO STOP HATCHING CHICKENS BY MAY 10.

March and April have been unusually bad months for raising chicks in Missouri and many people who have had poor luck in getting their usual number of chicks started may be tempted to continue hatching well up into the summer. Experienced poultrymen know, however, that late hatching does not pay. About May 10 should be the latest date for setting eggs and those who do not have as many chicks as they want by that time can well afford to take good care of the chicks already hatched and plan to do better with the early hatches next year. June hatched chicks are hard to raise. Hatches at that season are usually very poor, and warm weather makes the conditions ideal for the attack of diseases and insect pests. Lice, mites and chigres are especially active during the early summer and cause heavy losses of late hatched chicks. The farm poultry keeper is usually very busy with harvest and other duties during the latter part of June and the month of July so that he has very little time to devote to late hatched chicks. Even of raised to maturity, birds hatched in June are of little value. The cockerels bring a low price on the market and few of the pullets make profitable layers. To per cent of cull hens is always high in a flock where late hatching is practiced because the pullets do not have time to mature before winter and seldom develop properly. Late hatched hens are undersized and have poor body capacity. They do not lay until late in the spring and stop laying early in the fall. To avoid raising culls, no eggs should be set later than the first week in May.

D. A. R. "Ancestral Day."

"There may be and there often is, a regard for ancestry which nourishes a weak pride—but there is also a moral and philosophical respect for our ancestors, which elevates the character and improves the heart," and so the Maryville chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held their "Ancestral Day" Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. L. Robinson. In the receiving line stood Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Charles T. Bell, Mrs. Joseph Jackson, Jr., Mrs. G. L. Wilfley Miss Marjorie Wilfley, and Miss Olive DeLuce As the guests assembled they were ushered into the library on the walls of which hung hand woven coverlets died with home made dyes dating back to the early part of the nineteenth century and beautiful old quilts. A quaint trunk brought by steamboat up the Missouri river when Mrs. T. L. Robinson's parents came to this country, dishes from one to two hundred years old, silverware, old jewelry candlesticks, homespun blankets etc., were arranged on chairs and tables for display. In the music room were old shawls one hundred to one hundred and seventy-five years old and paisley shawls from England and Scotland. Paintings, samplers and veils completed the exhibit in this room. In the living room were two tables of old books, a small table made one hundred years ago covered with home spun linen on which stood rare old royal silver candlesticks. Other tables held daguerreotypes, ambertypes, silhouettes and oil portraits of ancestors of the daughters of Maryville. Draperies, baby dresses jackets and hoods made for babies seventy-five years ago were an interesting collection. On the mantel were coats of arms and ancestral records. One of the most interesting features of the whole exhibit was the original pension paper granted the revolutionary ancestor of Mrs. Fred Bellows and signed by John C. Calhoun. In the dining room the tea table was centered with a beautiful basket of spring flowers with Mrs. C. C. Corwin and Mrs. J. A. Ford presiding, assisted by Mrs. Dale Bellows, Mrs. J. D. Thomas, Mrs. Henry Foster Miss Mae Corwin and Miss Katherine Carpenter. During the afternoon groups of songs were sung by Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. F. P. Robinson and Miss Margaret James. Much praise is due Mrs. A. F. Harvey, who sponsored the affair and her assistants, Mrs. H. L. Raines, Mrs. W. O. Garrett and Miss Kate Willis. The silver offering taken netted the chapter a nice sum which will go to the memorial fund for planting trees in College park in memory of the deceased soldiers.

HONEST LABEL ON CANDY.

Washington, May 3.—Candy is interstate commerce, Uncle Sam through the Department of Agriculture has told manufacturers, must be pure and must carry a label that tells the truth. The Department holds that mixed candies labeled "fruit flavors" are misbranded if any artificial fruit flavors are used. The word "maple" or even the picture of a maple leaf must not appear on the label of confections in which no maple sugar or sirup is used.

On the question of purity, harmless colors that do not conceal inferiority are permitted. The use of shellac and other gums for coating is prohibited. Talc, terra alba, barytes, chrome yellow, alcohol narcotic drug and mineral substances of all kinds are specifically forbidden in confectionery by the terms of the law. The use of cocoa dust in the manufacture of chocolate goods is held to be objectionable.

Many Farms Vacated.

Centerville, Mich.—Between 5,000 and 6,000 acres of tillable land will lie idle in St. Joseph County this year because there is no one to work it. In thirty-two out of the 115 school districts in the county investigators found 106 vacant farm houses, the majority vacated during the last seven months. Farm labor is not to be had, though farmers are offering $70 to $80 a month with board, room and washing.

HOW WILL WOMEN ELECTORATE SWAY?

DO NOT ALL SIDE WITH PROHIBITION AND LEAGUE.

WILL BE INDEPENDENT

Politicians Can Only Wonder How Women Will Vote at November Election—Have No Party.

Washington, May 3. — Facing the probability that the women of the United States will vote next November, politicians are seriously taking stock of what the female vote will mean.

That it will have more than usual importance because of some of the issues of this year's campaign is recognized by all political observers here.

The strong probability that prohibition enforcement will be one of the issues, and that the treaty and the other causes more than perfunctory attention is being given to plans for capturing the women's vote.

Time was when the "drys" regarded the woman vote as certain to be cast in their favor. But from reports brought in from various parts of the country to party headquarters here, the women this year will be just as likely to vote for a more liberal policy of prohibition enforcement as their menfolk.

The same is true of the treaty question. Advocates of the League laid much store by the fact that the women of the country, if they ever got a chance to vote on the League question, would be overwhelmingly for it as a war preventive. But political scouts report that the women are no more enthusiastic about the treaty than the men but that both men and women want some kind of league or organization that will prevent war.

Two men here who sit down to figure out the effect of the women's votes this year, can't do it. They say the old saying that women will vote as the men vote has been exploded, and that the women will form an independent electorate. Not only are they independent in their political views, but they are not as a class of voters united under one banner or on one platform, or behind one set of issues. If they were, they could be classified and the effect of their votes on any particular issue might in a degree be measured, politicians said. But as things stand, if the women get the vote next November, they are due to be "counted" by both parties most assiduously.

Women speakers will be sent out in large numbers, to work with small audiences of clubwomen, and civic organizations of women.

In presenting campaign issues, the woman vote will be played up to on the cost of living and kindred issues, political leaders said.

PASTOR GIVES 8 REASONS "WHY GIRLS LEAVE HOME."

San Francisco, May 3.—There are eight main reasons "why girls leave home."

This was the declaration of Dr. James L. Gordon in a sermon at the First Congregational Church. The reasons are these:

To see the world.

To secure an education.

For financial gain and advantage.

Because the boys in the family receive more consideration than the girls.

To secure the social recognition that is denied them in a town or village.

Because of the lack of tact on the part of parents.

To relieve the heart of a great sorrow.

Sometimes, but not often, to cover up a mistake or blunder.

AMERICAN HONEY VERY POPULAR IN ENGLAND.

Washington, May 3. — American honey is becoming increasingly popular in Great Britain, according to reports reaching the Bureau of Markets of the Department of Agriculture. On account of the shortage of sugar the English people have taken readily to its use, and it now seems probable that the demand will continue even after sugar again becomes plentiful. During 1918 the United States shipped 16,000,000 pounds of honey to the United Kingdom, the value being $5,500,000.

HIGH COST OF GAS LAID TO "FLIVVERS

SAY SMALL CAR OWNERS CAUSE MOST OF TROUBLE.

ORDER EXTRAVAGANTLY

Cares Less for Rising Price Than Millionaire Driver of Multi-Cylinder Car.

Boston, May 3.—Pumping "gas" at an automobile filling station in order to get a chance to study human nature at first hand is the latest hobby of a millionaire gold mine owner. At his request his name is withheld. However, this auto-psychologist in overalls has some interesting deductions. They are:

The owner of a "flivver" cares less for the rising price of gasoline than the millionaire driver of the multi-cylinder car.

The small car driver wastes more gasoline through carelessness and extravagance than the plutocrat in the padded limousine.

Owners of little cars are the real profiteers of the country, and send the price of gas and oil soaring because they are wasteful.

"Flivver" drivers, nine times out of ten, are the garage cranks, the road hogs, and the arrogant traffic nuisances.

Everyone is concerned about high prices except those who have had money only lately and who are inflated with temporary prosperity. These people are ashamed to protest the cost of anything.

"The little cars cause most of the trouble in this world," states this ex-plutocratic observer. "Their drivers are arregant, pushing, unsatisfied with anyone who serves them. They are the ones who order gas extravagantly, never gauge their tanks, and apparently care nothing about rising prices.

"The rich people, are as a rule, conservative and careful. They are not ashamed to bewail the price of gas and oil, and they never waste.

"These little cads strut up to the tanks like turkey cocks in a barnyard; they are all swelled up with their own importance. No twelve thousand dollar de luxe limousine makes as much commotion about itself as the little tin go-d on wheels.

"The real profiteers in this country are the unskilled mechanics who are demanding more than they are worth and who insist upon it in spite of public rights and conveniences. Then they buy a cheap car and drive it around as if they owned the earth."

BRITISH DEALERS SAY FOOD PRICES WILL GO NO HIGHER

England's Food Crop Plentiful and Acreage Increased—Excess Will Be Put on Market.

London.—British food experts believe that prices have reached their pinnacle and that henceforth a slow and gradual decline will set in.

Reasons advanced by large wholesale houses are: First, mechanical transport and tractors are being more widely used in all food producing countries, thus adding vast acreage to food production that formerly grew food for horses; second, high European prices have stimulated production abroad and heavily increased harvests will soon be reaped; third, there are large stocks of food in British warehouses and docks that will soon have to be put on the market to prevent loss from spoiling; fourth, the United States has shut down on food and other credits for most of Europe, while England's credit is still good—hence America's exportable surplus will have to come to England which can re-export.

Britain's food crop is expected to be larger this year, owing to the plentifulness of labor.

WORMS ON CURRANT AND GOOSEBERRY BUSHES.

Numerous inquiries are being received by the Missouri College of Agriculture from those who anticipate injury from the small green and black spotted worms which eat the leaves of currant and gooseberry bushes. Soon after the leaves appear on currants and gooseberries this pest may be expected to begin its work.

The pest is known as the imported currant worm or sawfly, says L. Haseman of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture. It is a wasp-like insect tho the feeding stage closely resembles a real caterpillar. It passes the winter in a cocoon in the rubbish under or near the bushes. Early spring clean up work in the garden will get rid of most of the over wintering stages. The small dark colored wasp-like adult places her eggs within the tissues of the leaves by means of a small sharp drill, which corresponds to the sting of bees and wasps. These eggs soon hatch and the small worms usually feed unobserved for several days down in the center of the bushes. Examine the bushes carefully for the early work of these small worms and when found, apply a poison spray or dust for killing them.

Hellebore, a brown vegetable poison, was formerly used for this pest. It loses its strength on being exposed and as a consequence it is difficult to get the material fresh enough to give results. Arsenate of lead is now most commonly used for this pest. When the leaves are moist with dew equal parts of powdered arsenate of lead and flour or air-slaked lime may be lightly dusted over the bushes. If paste arsenate of lead is at hand rather than the powder form a tablespoonful of the paste to a gallon of water and spray it on lightly. If a sprayer is not available use a handful of straw or grass or a small broom for "wisping" it on lightly. The poison should be put on when the fruit is still small. It is always well to thoroly wash the fruit from treated bushes.

PLUMBER AT $12 PER DAY CAN'T SMOKE ON JOB.

Denver, May 3.—Denver plumbers receiving $12 per day must keep busy and cannot woo Lady Nicotine while on the job, according to a ruling by Judge George W. Dunn in County Court.

"A plumber who charges $12 per day has no right to smoke on the job," the judge declared in handing down a decision in the suit of a local plumbing firm against Mrs. F. H. Wood to recover a bill for plumbers' services.

Mrs. Wood stated that the plumber who performed the work smoked on the job continuously and spent much of his time refilling and lighting I pipe. She also alleged that he ruined the woodwork with tobacco juice.

Judge Dunn in awarding Mrs. Wood her requested reduction in the bill remarked:

"The evidence shows that the plumber killed time on the job. When a man charges $12 per day he ought to do his smoking at the noon hour. Certainly he has no right to fill and light his pipe."

WHERE MR. SNAGGS GOT EVEN

Turned Down, He at Least Left Miss Binks Chewing the Cud of Bitter Reflection.

He was of the hard-up-but-hopeful variety. For years he had sought Fortune, but that fickle dame had put her thumb to her nose and spread her fingers out in his direction.

Now, however, he thought he had tracked her down in the person of Miss Binks.

Miss Binks was certainly not young, nor was she beautiful. When one gazed upon her, one looked again, to make sure she was not a golliwog. But she had riches, and, as the poet might have remarked, "Sweet coin is more than coronets and simple quills than Norman blood."

So he proposed; but, alas!

"No, Mr. Snaggs," she remarked; "I shall never love again. The only man I ever loved was killed at the battle of——"

Snaggs reached for his hat, a dreadful smile upon his features.

"Yes, I know," he said, with deadly calm. "Gettysburg, wasn't it?"

FIGS FOR HOME CONSUMPTION

Possibility That This Country Will Soon Be Producing All Demand Calls For.

It is not improbable that this country will soon produce all the figs it needs. This statement is made by the chief of the bureau of plant industry in his report on the progress of Smyrna fig culture in California.

Much of the success of this enterprise has been due to the fact, that the department has been able to maintain a caprifig orchard at Loomis, from which caprifigs have been distributed free to growers. Before this distribution was arranged for many small growers of Smyrna figs became discouraged and some even dug up their orchards. The relationship between these two varieties is that the Smyrna fig is fertilized by an insect which lives on the caprifig.

In the fall of 1917 the fig insect was established in some old seedling caprifig trees in Brunswick, Ga., and since then a number of caprifig trees have been similarly treated. The result is that it has been possible to caprify and bring into bearing many sterile Smyrna fig trees growing in the southeastern states. Some of these trees bear a very high grade of fruit, promising for use as fresh fruit or for canning.

What's In a Name!

"A printer informed me recently what the Evansville Bar association really is," said Joseph H. Igleheart, secretary of the Evansville association.

Mr. Igleheart recently ordered printed a number of licenses to be granted to members of the association. When a copy of the proof was shown him, he discovered that the words "Evansville Bar association" were in unusually large type.

"What do you think these licenses are for—saloon keepers?" inquired Igleheart of the printer.

"Why, certainly what else does the word 'bar' mean?" was the printer's response.—Indianapolis News.

Let In on a Secret.

While riding on a crowded street car I chanced to meet an old acquaintance. Having had quite a success with a little experiment at home, I decided to let my friend in on the secret. I placed my newspaper to my face in order that the passengers would not hear what I had to say. When I had finished telling him my story he straightened up with surprise and bellowed out, so that all within a radius of ten feet could hear him, "For the love of Mike, where did you get the corn and raisins?"—Chicago Tribune.

Southern Pine Important.

Aside from lumber, the southern pines, particularly the long-leaf pine, are the source of our naval stores, representing a value of $20,000,000 a year. The position of the United States in regard to these important raw materials is at present a commanding one. Only one other country can be considered a rival, and that country—France—produces only about one-fourth as much as the United States.

THIRSTY ENVIOUSLY GAZE ON THREE LUCKY PORKERS.

But three pigs were regarded enviously by the thirsty here recently when they painted the town red for an hour or two.

The property of Antonio Gusipe, the three porkers became the sole beneficiaries of a barrel of wine dumped into their pen by stern Federal officers who confiscated it from Antonio. The pigs ran amuck and were captured only with difficulty.
